

Never was there a more intense and skilled athlete at Wattsburg than Joe Pfeiffer. A graduate of the class of 1973, Joe was a 3-sport letterman including football, basketball, and baseball. Joe was not only a big, strong running back, he was a smart player, always aware of his surroundings and making the right move on an opposing player at just the right time. Joe's talents earned him a spot on the 1973 Save an Eye all-star game, playing for the county. Joe excelled in basketball for Wattsburg, playing the forward position. Once again, his awareness of where every player was on the court, gave him the advantage for quick shots and strong rebounding action. Joe's best game may have been baseball. He and both of his brothers Dan and Ed, played for Wattsburg and Seneca, each one of them with their own talents. Joe played mostly infield positions and was a powerful hitter. After highschool Joe enrolled in the Erie General Electric Apprentice Program, where he had a very successful career and retired from there. Joe married his highschool sweetheart, Eileen Dietz a 1973 graduate and cheerleader for Wattsburg. They, along with their children, Stacey, Jessica and Joe live in the Wattsburg School district.
